

Micro-Trac³⁴

1 Micro-Trac³⁴ is a completely redesigned court surface which takes a radical new approach to the outdoor court surface. This new design utilizes a much smoother and more forgiving surface than most other products in its class while providing a superior grip for even the most demanding sports. This unique new product design was developed utilizing the years of experience and knowledge obtained through Rhino Sports' unprecedented drive to become the best outdoor court product available in the industry today.

2 GRIP

This uniquely new surface provides exceptional stability and traction achieved through an advanced surface design which incorporates both a patent pending Micro-Tech surface along with a specifically engineered surface designed to conform with the sole of any rubber based athletic shoe.

3 SAFETY

Player safety has always been a major contributor to what fueled the design of this new product. Our goal was to develop the most forgiving surface possible while providing superior traction over and beyond the older lug style surfaces designs.

4 DEDICATION

Once you have the opportunity to play on this uniquely different surface you will truly understand why it stands alone in the outdoor court industry.
